

ABSTRACT

Fusion proteins containing a mammalian interleukin-12 operably linked to a RGD-containing peptide as well as nucleic acid sequences, vectors and host cells for expression of these fusion proteins are provided. Also provided are method of using these fusion proteins to inhibit tumor growth and to decrease the toxicity associated with interleukin-12 administration.